

Paiute Tribal Talk 10/04/03

Ya-Ta-Hey to the Yo-He-Wah Nation from the mighty and expanding Paiute tribe!

No longer the pint-sized tribe of the Nation, the Paiutes welcomed 4 new dads and 6 new princesses to the tribe. This represents a nearly 100% increase in our size!

The tribe extends a big welcome and Ya-Ta-Hey to the following new braves and princesses:

The Barham family: new brave Eagles Nest and his princess Rising Sun
The Just family: new brave Mountain Bear and his princesses Tumbling Water & Dancing Leaf
The Lambeth family: new brave Flying Bear and his princesses Little Bear & Wild Builder Bear
The Wahl family: new brave Randy and his princess Little Walking Raccoon
The Duda family: new princess Running Bare

The Paiutes held their first meeting at the Dove Park South Pavilion, hosted by Chief Roaring River and his princesses Babbling Brook and Little Water Fall. New princesses added their Indian names, using beads, to the tribal banner and returning princesses created bead necklaces.

The tribe had a great time at the Opening Campout. The new braves and princesses paired with our returning members at the opening campout to learn the ropes. Everyone had fun at the games, Saturday night bonfire and the night's tribal banquet extravaganza.

We're looking forward to the Fall Campout in Mineral Wells....see you there.

Friends Always,
